The Situation Among the Striking Iron Workers—Thousands of Men Out of Work—Railroad and Criminal Notes.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

[illegible] A New York despatch [illegible] says: [illegible] of the United States [illegible] Peruvian minister at Washington [illegible] here today on the steamer [illegible]. In reply to [illegible] talk in detail [illegible] Chili [illegible] diplomatic business in which Peru was en[illegible] as well as [illegible] his [illegible] and [illegible] went over the [illegible] Vice President [illegible] talked quite freely [illegible] He said: "It was [illegible] there [illegible] proposed by Chili [illegible] friends to [illegible] parties [illegible] Chilian ultimatum and urge its acceptance as a necessity. The terms were too hard. Chili de[illegible] of Peru [illegible] most valuable possessions [illegible] the demand [illegible] United States would [illegible] Vice President Mon[illegible] was well aware that such a thing was out of the question, but I also knew this was the feeling in the [illegible] and did not care to go contrary to that. Vice President M[illegible] is very popular in Peru with the masses."

Was [illegible] to make this long visit to meet the vice president?

"Because he dare not leave his stronghold [illegible] to us. [illegible] He has not [illegible] with him."

When [illegible]

"Chilians [illegible] have all the [illegible] and towns and the whole of [illegible] at their mercy and Peruvians must [illegible] terms offered."

Are the [illegible] popular in Peru?

"Very popular. [illegible] that should Chilians [illegible] the United States would [illegible] Hall."

How would foreign powers regard such an intervention of this country?

"I think [illegible] England better."

Is the feeling in Chili very strong against Americans?

"Intensely so. Chilians say that having borne the brunt of war they are entitled to its indemnities and that it is not right for any other nation to interfere."

So far as establishing peace between these two countries your mission has been barren of result?

"For the present, yes, but I think our mission has given to the [illegible] a more correct view of the position of this government than possible before, and in that way peace will be more readily concluded."

May not a compromise be reached by Chili abating somewhat her demand?

"This is, in my opinion, what it will amount to in the end. The Peruvians ought to have been whipped, for they are an effeminate lot. They are the nicest people I ever went among, but they lack nerve and backbone, and the Chilians have the advantage of them."

Pacific Mail Meeting.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The newly elected board of directors of the Pacific Mail steamship company met in their office yesterday morning and organized. An executive committee was appointed consisting of Gould, Sage, Huntington and Hart, and an auditing committee consisting of Dillon, Huntington and Lauterbach. Other officers of the company hold over for the ensuing year, as no action was taken regarding them by the board. The subject of the combination between the company and overland railroads, by the means of which passage to San Francisco by steamer is kept at the same rate as passage by railroad, was not mentioned at the meeting. Secretary W. H. Lane said to a reporter yesterday that the arrangement would undoubtedly be continued as everything was working satisfactorily both to the railroads and steamship company. The composition of the executive committee would seem to justify the opinion of the secretary on this point. Of the four members Gould represents the Union Pacific railway, Huntington the Central Pacific railroad, and Sage may be depended on to sustain his friends in any ordinary emergency, so that the management of the Pacific Mail for the next year is practically in the hands of the overland railroads, whose interest is to continue the combination.

New York Notes.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Wm. Meakin and wife, immigrants intending to leave to-night for St. Paul, were suffocated in their room by gas light last night.

Smith, indicted at Washington with Brockway on a charge of stealing certain plates from the treasury department, was discharged from arrest on the ground of misnomer to-day.

At a meeting of trunk line presidents yesterday it was agreed to select Chas. Francis Adams, Jr., of Massachusetts, as permanent arbitrator for trunk lines. Commissioner Fink was instructed to tender to him the position. It has not been accepted, but little doubt of his acceptance is entertained. It is also believed Adams will be chosen by western roads as permanent arbitrator.

Chicago Clippings.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Specials from southern and central Wisconsin indicate that the summer was ushered in yesterday morning with heavy frosts, but that no damage resulted.

The propeller St. Magnus, the first large craft through the Welland canal, arrived here yesterday and is chartered for Europe with a large cargo of corn on a through rate. This trip is an experiment upon which depends the construction of a line of ten such [illegible] steamers to ply between the St. Lawrence and Chicago.

A Prosperous Railway.

The annual meeting of shareholders of the Chicago & Northwestern railway was held here to-day. The terms of six directors expired and they were re-elected for three years. The board then organized by re-electing the old officers. Dividends of 3½ per cent on common and 2 on preferred stock were declared. The president stated that the gross earnings for the year ending May 31, 1882, were approximately $23,500,000, an increase of $225,000 over the year 1881. The seven proprietary roads then met and re-elected former officers and directors with a few unimportant exceptions.

Notes from the Strikers.

CINCINNATI, June 2.—All mills but three have stopped work. Still mill owners do not regard strike as formidable. The number of men out by strike is about 1500. Chas. Avery, vice president of the amalgamated association for this district, has telegraphed to President Jarrett asking him to come to help settle the matter at a meeting called for Friday night.

WELLSVILLE, Ohio, June 2.—Puddlers in Woods rolling mill struck to-day because proprietors refused to sign the scale. A number of them afterward relented and wished to return to work, but were not allowed.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 2.—All the nail mills of this city shut down yesterday and expect to remain closed for an indefinite period. There appears to be no disposition whatever on the part of the manufacturers to start them until the situation has radically changed.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—The labor situation as regards the iron strike has developed nothing new. It is stated that while the iron lock-out continues no more colored laborers will be imported to take the place of strikers, as there will be little need of them, the iron mills having stopped consuming coal.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 2.—Cleveland rolling mill company expect to start up four of its mills next Monday, working half time and giving employment to 1500 men, non-union men and [illegible].

CHICAGO, June 2.—In an attack by strikers on some non-union employes at the Joliet iron and steel mill at the suburbs of Brighton this evening, several men were badly bruised, and Judge Pillbury of the appellate court shot in the groin.

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—Everything has been quiet to-day among the striking iron workers and there are no signs of a demonstration of any kind. The Harrison wire works did not shut down as reported last night.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

[illegible] crop will be short and greatly [illegible] by late frosts.

The contract for the new court house and jail at The Dalles has been let to N. J. Blakeley [illegible]

The annual drive of wood down Camp [illegible] creek has begun. About 800 cords will come down this year, rather less than usual.

Jack McMullen is under bonds at The Dalles to answer to the charge of a villainous assault upon a little girl of Kingsley, five and a half years old.

A twelve year old son of Jacob Goetz, while playing in the car shop at The Dalles, suffered a severe fracture of the thigh by a car wheel falling on him.

The Dalles city council has passed an ordinance requiring hotel runners to pay a quarterly license of $10 and wear a metallic badge inscribed with the number of his license and the name of the hotel for which he solicits.

Nearly all the fruit in John Day valley has been killed by frost. A few late kinds may have escaped, but the yield will be small. The Fisk & Rinehart orchard, being about ten days later than others, has escaped material damage and promises a good yield.

Work up in the Quartz mines of Dixie creek, Grant county, is being steadily pursued by the few men who are determined to develop them if much labor can accomplish it. Tunnels are being run to tap ledges, rock is being taken out of some and several arrastras are in full operation. We shall be much disappointed if a favorable result does not follow this work.

Western Oregon.

The potato crop in Clackamas county this year promises to be unusually large. In the vicinity of [illegible] 150 acres have already been planted.

The Capital Lumbering Company head [illegible] Woolen Mills [illegible] with a subscription of $100[illegible]. The entire amount, $17,000, was raised in two and a half days.

No part of Clackamas is making more progress than [illegible] creek [illegible] Since the advent of the Germans and Welch there what was only a short time ago forest and swamp now is [illegible] cleared of stumps and logs and rather [illegible] meadow or fields of good grain.

There were some pretty extensive fires in the woods near Oswego, burning several hundred cords of wood for the iron company last week. The iron company have moved their large store house in order to get it out of the coal [illegible] and [illegible] putting their buildings all more in a line. It adds greatly to the appearance of the town.

Oregon City Enterprise: John Bitzer, who has one of the neatest and best cultivated [illegible] in town, has gone into the silk culture business. He has set out 300 mulberry trees, of which about 200 are in a thriving condition. He has now more than a hundred silk worms who are strong and healthy, and expects to make the experiment of silk culture a success in Oregon. He is the first one to try it in the state.

Washington Territory.

A cord of wood, sawed and housed at Walla Walla, costs $4 50.

Quite a colony has lately settled about eight miles from Ainsworth.

A fire in [illegible] valley last Monday destroyed [illegible] hundred dollars worth of [illegible] the [illegible] Brothers.

The granite outcroppings on the land of [illegible] Whitney near Vancouver have been examined by [illegible] that there is a good ledge of [illegible] quality for building purposes. It is within a mile and a half of the river and can be easily developed.

Rev. [illegible] Wallis has [illegible] the past week with a view to securing [illegible] church. [illegible] to give $500 [illegible] $1500 could be raised in the city, a committee [illegible] $[illegible] subscribed.

Continuation of the Star Route Cases—Guiteau's Counsel after a New Trial Again.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

[illegible] New Orleans [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Star Route Cases.

[illegible] indictment [illegible] overruling of objections by court and exceptions thereto noted [illegible] of time.

A jury was finally obtained as follows: Wm. Dickson, [illegible] Matthew W[illegible], John [illegible] Carthy, Edwin [illegible] M. Lain, Wm. [illegible] Edward D. Donophan, Henry A. [illegible], Martin (colored), Wm. [illegible] Murray and Zachariah [illegible]. [illegible] had been villified, he said, it was [illegible] [illegible] newspaper correspondents [illegible] In answer to the inquiry from prosecution Judge Wylie said they could have the [illegible] argument, and it was arranged [illegible] explanation at length to the jury [illegible] and should state what [illegible] expected to prove [illegible] but one [illegible] argument by [illegible] counsel. [illegible] to bring these cases [illegible] Judge Wylie [illegible] if we have to sit up all night [illegible] Saturday [illegible] Still [illegible] court hours would [illegible] Adjourned.

The Contested Election Cases.

There is a boom in contested election cases just at present. Mackey of South Carolina was seated yesterday. Bisbee of Florida is seated in place of Finley to-night and Lowe, the contestant of the seat occupied by Gen. Joe Wheeler of the eighth Alabama district, expects to get his seat before the close of the week. There was as great a contrast as could be imagined between the spirit in which the house considered the Bisbee-Finley case to-day and the Mackey-O'Connor case yesterday. Partisan spirit was aroused to the highest pitch over the latter case and not a move was made without manifestation of extreme excitement and intense feeling. The democrats were worsted at every point. They failed even to put a censure upon the speaker for his arbitrary rulings by which filibustering was prevented. This morning the spirit of peace and good will prevailed on both sides. The democrats were resolved to defeat and the republicans at nine o'clock seated Bisbee by a vote of 141 to 9, a majority of democrats not voting.

Doings of Danenhower.

Lieut. Danenhower, accompanied by his father and Tong Sing, Chinese steward, paid an official visit to the navy department this morning and reported his return and presented a detailed account of the expenditure. He also brought the log book of the Jeannette, Captain DeLong's broken [illegible] and other gun belonging to his party, supposed to belong to Collins, and certain other articles found in crevices by Melville in his search for DeLong. The articles together with several zoological specimens were turned over to Commodore Walker, by the chief of the bureau of navigation. Lieut. Danenhower had quite a conference with Secretary Chandler and afterwards held an informal reception for the benefit of his many friends anxious to congratulate him on his safe return. Secretary Chandler received him cordially and told him to take a long rest, adding that when he had recovered from the fatigue of the journey he would like him to make a detailed report.

Postal Affairs.

Postmaster General Howe has returned from the west. He says with regard to remaining [illegible] facilities that while no definite understanding was arrived at, and expectations of railroad companies were perhaps extravagant as compared with the ability of the department to meet them, the postmaster general anticipates little trouble in arriving at an equitable and satisfactory arrangement.

Mr. Schmidt, imperial chief director from Bremen, Germany, had a conference with the postmaster general to-day. Among the matters discussed was the establishment of a parcel post between Germany and the United States.

The Bonded Spirits Investigation.

Athert [illegible] before Windom's committee this morning, said only two persons approached him on the whisky bill, both lawyers. One offered his services and the other asked if they were going to employ any one. Neither claimed to control influence of congressmen.

The committee in secret session considered without action the refusal of Athert to disclose names of parties who approached him with offers to secure an [illegible] securing passage of the bonded spirits bill. The committee is of opinion the question is material and should be answered.

Stagg, of St. Louis, testified he knew no funds to be used to influence legislation. He declined to name two attorneys who approached him regarding the use. Neither of them offered to secure influence of congressmen.

Col. Wharton, of Louisville, attorney for distillers, only knew of $77 spent by distillers, and these were for printing. He refused to engage attorneys because he did not think they were needed. He thought it plain sailing. No journalist or correspondent ever approached him except to get news. He had never heard of any threats by any of them. "I never prosecuted a case in court with cleaner hands than this one." Committee then adjourned.

After a New Trial.

Reed, Guiteau's counsel, presented a petition to the district supreme court to-day asking a rehearing on purely technical grounds. Judge Cox says a decision will be rendered as soon as the judges can consult, probably to-morrow.

The Star Route Cases.

Col. Bliss opened before the jury in the star route cases this morning.

Men who entered the army at an early age [illegible] The committee had changed this so as to make retirement upon 40 years service and before reaching [illegible] years optional with the officer himself. The appropriation committee [illegible] to the provision agreed that Gen. Sherman being [illegible] be retired now and having said [illegible] he was in favor of retirement at 62, should be retired on full pay, but that no action should be taken as to the lieutenant general as he had ten years to [illegible]

Cameron of Pennsylvania—Is it fair to repeat here what Gen. Sherman said? He is too brave and too good a man to ask any favors of the government that the government would not give him of its own accord. It is my belief, with my knowledge of law, that you cannot take his place away from him and I propose to move an amendment that will apply to his case.

Butler gave notice of an amendment exempting from the compulsory retirement provisions Generals Sherman, Sheridan, Hancock and Howard. His reasons for this, he said, were that each of these officers had received thanks of congress.

Hawley suggested the list would not be complete without General Terry.

Logan objected to this as savoring of favoritism and unjust to other fully as meritorious generals whose gallantry and worth had been more conspicuous than in the cases of those named. After further discussion and executive session senate adjourned without action.

The senate adjourned without touching the army bill because the point was raised that Davis [illegible] was making a visit of charity to a [illegible] and Ingalls [illegible] It was held that this was an illegal proceeding, and the senate adjourned till Monday.

House.

Kelly asked unanimous consent of the house to submit a report from the committee on ways and means.

Page, from the committee on commerce, desired to report back the river and harbor appropriation bill, but Randall interposed an objection.

The house then proceeded to consideration of the contested election case of Bisbee against Finley from the 2d congressional district of Florida.

Ramsey, stating he would demand the previous question at 3 o'clock this afternoon, made argument in support of the claims of contestant.

Beltzhoover of Pa., spoke for two hours in advocacy of the claims of the sitting member, and was followed by Jones of Texas, upon the same side. At the conclusion of Jones' speech the previous question was ordered without division.

After a brief speech by McMillan of Tenn. in opposition to the report of the majority Bisbee took the floor in his own behalf, but before concluding, 5 o'clock arrived and the house took a recess.

All [illegible] Bisbee concluded his speech and resolutions declaring him entitled to a seat were adopted. Yeas 140, nays, 3. Bisbee then appeared at the bar of the house and qualified as a member.

Page of California, chairman of committee on commerce, reported back the river and harbor appropriation bill and it was ordered printed and recommitted. Page stated he would on Monday next move passage of the bill under suspension of rules.

Hazelton of Wisconsin called up the contested election case of Lowe vs Wheeler in the eighth district of Alabama.

Against this Herbert of West Virginia raised a question of consideration and after considerable talk it was decided (yeas 146, nays, [illegible]) to take up the election case.

Hazelton took the floor and reiterated the statement that contestee had had full and ample opportunity to be heard, that his counsel would be heard as long as he desired, and that the gentleman has at [illegible] report here.

Manning of Mississippi stated [illegible] this morning and had been informed the report had not yet been received [illegible]

Kenna and Cox of New York were [illegible] parliamentary inquiry and point of order [illegible] a motion to adjourn. Hazelton having yielded to him for that purpose, which he had withdrawn, said to the speaker, "You know it."

[illegible] that the member from New York [illegible] (Derisive laughter and shouts of [illegible])

Cox—Page—You can't [illegible] me. You are not speaker.

The speaker—He had withdrawn his motion [illegible] and therefore he had not been entitled to the floor.

[illegible] asked to make a statement in reply, but the speaker said he had already made his statement, and the [illegible] two statements [illegible] side by side.

Reed then moved to adjourn and the speaker put the question, notwithstanding Cox [illegible] to be heard.

Well, said Cox, that is what I [illegible]

It is not [illegible] the speaker [illegible] adjourned.

The Entombed Miners.

VIRGINIA, June 2.—At this hour (12 M.) great [illegible] is felt that some if not all the men in the Alta drift are alive. About 9 o'clock [illegible] still [illegible] from the mine and [illegible] the drift were making signals by hammering on the compressed air pipe. It is said there can be no mistake about this, as five men heard the rapping. [illegible] signals on the pipe. A drilling has been [illegible] and will be used as soon as the water is [illegible] [illegible] a delay of an hour and a half during which [illegible] will be nearly midnight before they can hope to get into the drift with [illegible]

Neither [illegible] [illegible] had been [illegible] by heat and gas. Shortly after a German known as Dutch George tried to wade into the drift, but soon returned [illegible] He said he saw a light and beat [illegible] then [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] have been so [illegible] [illegible] The writer was [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] gives immediate relief [illegible] "I have used St. Jacobs Oil [illegible] [illegible] was twenty minutes before he was extricated, and it is a wonder that he lived through it. When we [illegible] and [illegible] St. Jacobs Oil and it [illegible] It is certainly a good thing."

[illegible] In regard to this [illegible] the [illegible] was just unloading [illegible] to [illegible]

[illegible] Mr. [illegible] stated that he had bought [illegible] standing in the stable [illegible] was very [illegible] horse was almost worthless. A few bottles of St. Jacobs Oil, however, has effected a radical cure. [illegible] Said the old [illegible] "I have also used it on myself for neuralgia. For a number of years I have been afflicted with neuralgia [illegible] the doctors all did [illegible] to doctor's bills and [illegible] Finally I tried St. Jacobs Oil and [illegible] I would not be without a bottle of it in my house. I have also tried to induce it among my friends. A young man, John Madde, was completely disabled with rheumatism and neuralgia in the head. We [illegible] but a thorough trial of this medicine was most successful in his case and he is now perfectly cured."

Mr. Washington Hesing, one of our prominent Germans, was visited at his private office on Fifth avenue. Mr. Hesing manifested a little reluctance at having his name appear in this connection, but a little reflection on his own part and persuasion on the part of the visitor, convinced him that it would be for the good of the suffering to let his experience with St. Jacobs Oil be known. He said: "In the summer of 1879, in alighting from a buggy I slipped, fell and sprained my left ankle. The hurt was a serious one. In fact I was unable to walk at all. I procured a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil and applied it, and relief came almost immediately. [illegible] the severe injury I [illegible] by the accident the next day I could walk a little, and in four days, by reason [illegible] [illegible] the pain and swelling all abated. I [illegible] the cure solely to the use of this remedy. I have also used it in my family. A mother [illegible] was for a long time a sufferer from rheumatism. She was cured, and in fact I have seen the medicine tried in a great number of cases among my friends and I never knew it to fail. There are several gentlemen in this office that can tell you the same story."

The following facts were elicited from Messrs. Hartman Brothers at the corner of State and Van Buren streets. The janitor of their building was crippled with rheumatism. His leg was swollen and painful that he limped about in a most pitiable manner. He was unable to walk and unfit for his duties. None of the numerous medicines he used benefited him and he [illegible] the St. Jacobs Oil which cured him promptly and completely that he is now as lively as ever. Lex. A member of the above firm stated that he himself had frequently used the Oil with invariably satisfying results. "We endorse it," remarked Mr. Hartman.

[illegible] past the drug stores of R. Damann & Zinn, corner State and Jackson streets, it was thought it [illegible] what these popular druggists said of the medicine. Mr. Bodmann, the senior partner, was about going to dinner, but at the earnest solicitation of the [illegible] was prevailed upon to stay and be interviewed. Said he: "I confess I did not at first think much of St. Jacobs Oil, but a friend of mine, a doctor who had tried it upon himself, told me some time ago to recommend it to my customers. Since then I have sold large quantities of it. This doctor by the way has been a physician for twenty-five years in this city. He is well and favorably known in medical and social circles and is very enthusiastic in his praises of the remedy. I might refer you to many more medical gentlemen in the city who likewise favor and even prescribe this specific. My sales of the article are very large, in fact, more extensive than those of any other proprietary medicine, and any complaint that I have ever sold. It fulfills the promises of its makers in every particular. I have to send almost daily orders to the house. I have [illegible] the results of [illegible] in many cases and they are uniformly most satisfactory. I tell you my [illegible] that to dispute the qualities of St. Jacobs Oil is like Pilton's a hopeless case of futile defiance." Mr. Bodmann has been a druggist in this city for twelve years and his opinion is a weighty one.

Mr. M. D. [illegible], who has for some time sold [illegible] manufactured by Forsythe & Co., was seen at the company's office on Jackson street near [illegible] He was found to be enthusiastic in his appreciation of the efficacy of the medicine. "Still [illegible] I myself have used St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism in the hip. For whole nights I had been in the greatest pain [illegible] sleep, but I find [illegible] it is to [illegible] instantly relieved and ultimately cured me. The relief in my case was [illegible] Out of these was a man who[illegible] so swollen that he could not walk and [illegible] was of [illegible] standing. He tried the oil and in two days was well [illegible] the [illegible] was that of a child who was afflicted with a [illegible] hip trouble. By the use of St. Jacobs Oil she was relieved and made happy. I could relate several other cases having a similar history. From what I have seen I believe it to be the best thing of the kind I have ever known."

[illegible] some of the prominent wholesale and retail druggists was taken to find out the extent to which the remedy is being sold in this city. Among these were Van Schaack, Stevenson & Co., Lord, Stoutenburg & Co., Morrison, Plummer & Co., [illegible] & Co. and Buck & Rayner. Members of the several firms were in every case interviewed, and all spoke in the highest terms of the [illegible] as a selling article and said that they had great difficulty in keeping up their stock, as the sales were rapidly increasing. Nearly all said this was the best selling proprietary medicine in the market. In regard to its efficacy as a remedy most of them said that they had the most favorable reports from their customers and some testified from personal experience and observation to the beneficial results derived from its use.

Among these latter were Mr. Peter Van Schaack, the senior member of the well known firm of Van Schaack, Stevenson & Co., wholesale druggists, proprietors of the [illegible] Salamander Drug. He was [illegible] himself to the writer as follows: "Wholesale druggists have but little opportunity to obtain certain knowledge of the [illegible] of these goods. To this rule, however, St. Jacobs Oil forms with us by far the most [illegible] Many of my personal friends [illegible] [illegible] I have [illegible] When all other [illegible] The reports we hear from trustworthy sources are all in its favor. SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 3, 1882.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND "PROTECTION."

It occurred to W. D. Fenton, democratic candidate for representative in congress, to intimate in his speech in Portland last Thursday evening that he deemed the position of THE OREGONIAN on the tariff question inconsistent and insincere. This enables us to say that the reason which more than any other makes it impossible for THE OREGONIAN to support Mr. Fenton is the double-dealing of himself and his party with this very question. His complaint against this paper is evidently based on his disappointment with it for not advocating his election; otherwise he could have no concern with its utterances on the subject. Let us tell Mr. Fenton something about the relations of the two parties to the subject of protection. The present system of protection is the fruit of republican policy. It is boldly upheld by the controlling element of the republican party. Yet there is a large body of opinion in that party which is strongly opposed to the policy. This body of opinion is composed of the great class who are given to independent thinking, who do not accept party platforms as the embodiment of all truth, and who try all things by the rule of their own observation and judgment. But when they look to the democratic party they find it pursuing a course of characteristic duplicity in dealing with this question. In declaring its principles and purposes to the country, that party always denounces the doctrine and the practice of protection. But when it comes to act, it as invariably allows itself to be controlled by protectionists of the most extreme kind. It has not the honesty or courage to carry out, nor even to attempt to carry out, the principles it so loudly proclaims. It elected a great majority of the house of representatives in 1874. Again in 1876 it secured a majority, and again in 1878. The senate also for two years—that is, from 1879 to 1881—was democratic. Yet the democratic party, for six years in undisputed control of the house, and for two years in control of both house and senate, did nothing to relieve the country of the incubus of protection. It deliberately elected and re-elected to the speakership a protectionist of the most ultra type, by whom the house committees were purposely constituted so as to protect the monopolists in all their advantages. In 1880 the party adopted in its platform the usual declaration in favor of "a tariff for revenue only." During the last month of the contest the republicans in the great manufacturing states, hard pressed for an issue, attacked this position in a bold and aggressive way. The attack threw the democratic party into a panic; in the very hight of the contest it deserted its colors and its principles; its newspapers and committees made headlong haste to declare that the platform was no menace to "protection," and even the candidate (Gen. Hancock) wrote a letter virtually renouncing the tariff-for-revenue principle. It is this persistent insincerity of the democratic party on this question which prevents its obtainment of recruits from the ranks of republican free-traders. Even Mr. Fenton dares not go among the democrats of Eastern Oregon and pledge himself to aid to the extent of his power in abolishing the tariff on wool. When he comes to Portland he can make a free-trade speech; but when he goes to localities which have special interests that want "protection" he juggles with the subject and never fairly meets it. He is like the candidate for the country school, who could teach that the earth was either round or flat, as the directors might require. It is just because there is no sincerity in the democratic party in dealing with this question that free-trade republicans refuse to support its candidates for congress. They prefer to vote for avowed protectionists rather than for juggling politicians who promise anything to get votes and gain a party triumph, and then do the work of protectionists in a sneaking way at last, through fear that they will injure their party if they do not.

The democratic organ yesterday contained a column-long article severely attacking Mr. George C. Sears. Fourteen pretended reasons were given why he should not be elected sheriff. Mr. Sears secured affidavits yesterday completely refuting several of the more serious charges, and can as easily, he says, disprove the others. Mr. Henry Wilmer, in an affidavit which has been furnished us, testifies that Sears was in partnership with him for three years, and that during that period his conduct toward himself (Wilmer) and toward their customers, was "honest, honorable and upright." The insinuation that Sears robbed an employe, Mr. Wilmer emphatically denies. With reference to the charges against the personal character and business integrity of Mr. Sears before coming to Oregon, W. R. Vincent, of the Union carriage factory, makes affidavit that he (Sears) was a partner in an extensive business in Contra Costa, Cal., and that "his reputation both as a business man and socially was that of a fair, just, honorable and upright gentleman." Mr. E. C. Newell, manager Wheeler & Wilson Mfg. Co., further testifies to Sears' good character prior to his removal to Oregon. The insinuation with reference to manipulation of the poll-tax stubs, is completely refuted by an order of the county court, which is spread on the court record, made very shortly after Sears became assessor. It was as follows: "At this time upon recommendation of Geo. C. Sears it is ordered that the county clerk issue to the county assessor from time to time blank receipts for poll tax collections as he may apply for them, taking his receipts therefor, and keep an account specifying the numbers of the same." Affidavits and court records speak louder than infamous laudation. Sears offers to bring evidence that each and every charge, and each and every contemptible insinuation in the article referred to, is false.

It is alleged that promises are out from Sheriff Buchtel for the appointment of a large number of deputies for service on election day, and that Ben. Nordon is to select such as he may deem most efficient for certain political work. We shall not credit this story. There is no actual authority for the appointment of such special deputies, nor in any case in this county has there been need of them: and more than all, Mr. Buchtel is known as a fair man and conscientious official. We are greatly mistaken in him if he would allow his office to be used for any political, partisan, or other illegitimate purpose. Appointment of deputy sheriffs, deputy marshals or special policemen, under pretense of keeping the peace at the polls, has always been, as practised here, an expedient to control voters in improper ways. It is a method of coercion and corruption combined.

It is urged in behalf of N. B. Knight of Salem that he is only carrying out the principles of political independence which THE OREGONIAN has advocated for many years, and therefore that this journal has no right to criticise his present action. But does any one suppose that Knight is pursuing a course of honest and manly independence? To call a subaltern and machine whip [illegible] who becomes a bolter in the interest of the Hipple-Mitchell ring, an independent, is gross perversion of the term. Knight is a bolter simply because he thinks he can just now serve the boss and the machine with more effect in that role than in any other. This spurious "independence" will not deceive those who look beneath false names to the substances of things.

Messrs. Earhart and Hirsch have performed their respective duties as secretary and treasurer of state with a trustworthy fidelity for four years past. This is a sufficient recommendation for their re-election.

MR. GEORGE IN CONGRESS.

Hon. M. D. Ball, of Alaska, who has spent the winter at Washington, writes as follows:

"To be efficient in the house, a man must not only be always on hand, before the committees and the house itself, and always attentive to note any chance that presents itself for the accomplishment of something, but he must have the tact to know how to disarm hostility, to conciliate opposition, and to win the assistance and the helping offices of other members. This peculiar and most essential tact is possessed in an eminent degree by Hon. M. C. George, and of this fact any one will be convinced who will observe for a few days the proceedings of the house. Mr. George has the affability of manner that is always winning. He has the rare faculty of patience that listens with apparent interest to matters presented for his consideration, however trivial they might seem to others, and he has the good judgment to know just when and how to act. In proof of this I can state the fact that he has secured for your state, in the appropriation bills of this session, more than twice as much as was ever awarded her before, for your various public improvements. That is where Mr. George's work tells. But, while this is much more important than the gift of gab and fluency on the floor, yet he is not at all inferior even to many of the most distinguished members, in this respect, when the occasion requires it. His speech on the Columbia river improvement was a model of eloquent argument, and his remarks on the Chinese bill were among the most sensible made on that hackneyed subject. In fact, Mr. George promises to be one of the most useful and influential members of the house, if, indeed, he is not already recognized as such in his first session, and it would be a very great mistake in the people of Oregon to refuse to return him again."

Fenton, when in Multnomah, speaks warmly in favor of all propositions and measures to aid the commercial growth and development of Portland. When in other counties he talks against Portland, solicits votes on the ground that he is not a resident of Portland, is no friend to Portland and thinks Portland ought to be curbed, checked and held back in the interest of other parts of the state. Multnomah could easily give 5000 majority against Fenton on this proposition; but it regards his vaporing as nothing, and so will make George's majority only the natural one—say about 1500 to 2000. Fenton makes the common mistake of supposing that Multnomah and the other counties are really in conflict as to their industrial and commercial interests. Each locality is dependent in no small degree on all other localities, and there is no actual antagonism.

For a change it might be well to elect justices of the peace in this city who would occasionally find for the defendant. Last year in Bybee's court fifty-two out of fifty-three cases were decided by the justice in favor of the plaintiff, while in six out of seven jury cases the jury found for the defendant. The man who has nothing sues the man who has something, and the justices help to equalize the ownership of property by taking from the defendant and giving to the plaintiff. The maxim of the scripture is reversed; and hence we find the rule that from him who has (possesses) shall be taken even what he hath.

That protection doesn't protect workingmen, but only capitalists and masters, is demonstrated by the concerted strikes in the eastern states for higher wages by iron workers. Iron and steel production in the United States is protected by a schedule of duties that makes prices about twice as high as in England. Yet the workingmen find it impossible to live on their wages. The protected monopolist, however, gets enormously rich at the expense both of the working classes and of consumers.

We print on another page suggestions and estimates by Capt. Powell for deepening the channel across the St. Helens bar and the entrance at the mouth of the Columbia. The board of trade has appropriated $1500 toward the work and the merchants and property holders of the city will be invited to increase the sum to $5,000, which will be required to accomplish the work. Without doubt the money will be raised without difficulty. The necessity is imperative.

Read the article on fourth page on justices' courts and expenses thereof. It is an exhibit for taxpayers to think of.

A LADY

SAYS:

"THE OVAL CAKE"

Is revolutionizing the Soap Trade. Housekeepers who once try it never again go back to the wasteful, adulterated and incompletely pressed styles heretofore in use. The advantages of

[illegible]

Over all other Laundry Soaps are:

1st. It is the only Soap molded by STEAM pressure, and consequently contains more soap and less water to the pound than the old style hand-pressed soaps.

2d. The Oval Cake does not, like the other styles, wash away in using to a thin piece, which crumbles and is wasted, but it wears down to a thick lump, which you can stick a fork into and use entirely up.

3d. It contains no adulteration whatever.

4th. It is the handsomest, most convenient to handle, most economical, and (considering its superior quality) the cheapest Washing Soap ever made. m25d2w

O[illegible] day night when the democrats held their rally [illegible] New Market theatre [illegible] those who had charge of the meeting that [illegible] This [illegible] the brilliant idea of getting the [illegible] upon the platform [illegible] the parquette by a big six [illegible] the terrified kind who informed him that all the seats were taken. The governor pointed to some vacant seats and said he could get a seat there [illegible] the Guardian of the [illegible] there where yees belongs or else git [illegible] the gallery stairs and took a corner seat where he remained unobserved throughout the meeting. The [illegible] tells the story as a good joke [illegible] there can be no harm in retailing it.

MINING SUIT ENDED.—The suit of Bybee vs Hawkett et al that has been so long pending in the U S district court and was finally brought to trial this week before Judge Deady and a jury has been at last decided. The jury returned the following verdict: We the jury find in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant, E C Robinson for the sum of $2,512 67 and in favor of the defendant Jesse Robinson. It appears that a party came into Jackson county to run a mine. E C Robinson represented the Californians and the institution got into debt and into a lawsuit. The suit was mainly to connect Jesse Robinson father of E C Robinson with the company as a partner so as to recover from him he being reputed rich. But the jury failed to find that the father was a partner and the plaintiff will have to get his judgment out of the son if he can.

THE OECHSLE CONCERT.—The musical entertainment given last evening at New Market theater by Prof G Oechsle band master of the 21st U S infantry was a grand success both artistically and financially. The hall was well filled nearly every seat in the parquette and dress circle being taken and the rounds of applause which greeted the performers attested to their merit. The Orchestral Union especially added fresh laurels to those already won from the people of Portland. The song by Mrs J H Wyatt, was most sweetly given and the melodious ripple of her voice held the rapt attention of her hearers until the close when the suppressed feelings of pleasure burst forth in rounds of applause. The military medley introducing all the garrison calls was well executed and individual performers were equally good.

A VICIOUS BRUTE.—A little boy son of Mr Monk who resides in East Portland was seriously bitten by a dog with which he had been playing. Two or three other children, one of them a baby were in the yard at the time and the dog who was usually kept chained had been let loose to play with them. The dog was very rough in his gambols and when the children resented it he turned upon them and frightfully lacerated the boy's arms. A man who was working on the place saw the affair and seizing a gun he shot the animal killing him instantly. Dr Rafferty was called and dressed the boy's wounds. The dog's teeth had penetrated to the bone.

DOCTOR OUT DOCTOR.—An interesting operation was performed yesterday by the Drs Wells upon Dr J. M Connaway, of Dallas Polk county. The last named gentleman has been laboring for some time under a complaint which he could not understand and so came to Portland to consult with other physicians in regard to it. After an examination Dr Wells aspirated him and succeeded in relieving him of about five pints of a thick gelatinous looking fluid. Dr Connaway felt much relieved after the operation, and started on a pleasure trip east of the mountains.

POLLING PLACES.—Sheriff Buchtell has named the following places in Portland where polls will be opened for voting at the general election June 5th 1882: Couch precinct office of Bacon's coal yard, corner Second and E streets. North Portland Multnomah engine company's house Second street. Morrison precinct Willamette engine company's house Morrison street, Madison precinct county court room, court house. South Portland southwest corner Clay and First streets. West Portland southwest corner Eleventh and Jefferson streets.

THE DRY DOCK.—Last night the high water found a way through the embankment into the excavation being made for the dry dock, and filled the pit full before morning. This contingency was not unexpected the soil being rather loose to form an impervious dam without the lapse of time for settlement. The work of digging will necessarily be suspended until the water lowers and the pit can be pumped out. Of late the work was rapidly progressing and it is thought the completion of the dock will not be much delayed.

LOST HIS FINGERS.—Dr Rex has performed an operation on Charles McGonigle who had his hand injured two weeks ago by a heavy piece of timber falling on it, and who was taken to St Vincent's hospital. Some days ago, blood poisoning set in and it was feared he would lose his arm. The only way to prevent it was by amputation, and this Dr Rex did removing two of his fingers. Since the operation, McGonigle has begun to improve and is now likely to recover.

NEVER CORK BEER.—While engaged in corking a bottle, Joseph Brown, who is employed in a beer bottling establishment in the northern part of the city met with a curious but painful accident. The bottle broke from the pressure of gas inside and Brown's right hand was terribly lacerated by the broken glass. Dr R. G Rex was called and dressed the wounds, and unless the complication of blood poisoning should arise Brown will shortly recover the use of his hand.

SERVICES IN ST STEPHEN'S CHAPEL.—Divine service will be held in the St Stephen's chapel corner Jefferson and Fifth streets, to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. The following clergy will be present: Rt Rev Bishop Morris Rev Messrs Watson, of Seattle, McKewan, of The Dalles, Daly and Roseburg. The Rev Mr Watson will preach the sermon. A collection to defray expenses will be taken up. The regular Sunday school session will be held at 10 A M in the chapel.

THE STAR'S BENEFIT EXCURSION.—There has been a large sale of tickets for the Star base ball club's excursion to Vancouver to-morrow for Edward Millea's benefit. The Buffaticks have materially strengthened their nine since last year and a good game is promised. They have kindly prepared seats for ladies and spread canvas to protect them from the sun. The boat and barge with the East Portland band, will leave the Morrison street wharf at 10 A M.

THE BRIBERY CASE.—Justice Petrain's court was filled with people yesterday afternoon to hear the examination of O P Mason and W Scott Beebe counsel for Carrie Bradley, on the charge of attempting to bribe the jury in favor of their client. They were doomed to disappointment, however as the lawyers held a palaver and adjourned the matter until Saturday, June 10th at 1 P M. Meanwhile the defendants are at liberty on $500 bail each.

ELI PERKINS TO-NIGHT.—At the request of the committee of ladies, Eli Perkins has consented to give his best lecture to-night at the Orchestral Union Hall on Morrison street for the benefit of the Open Temperance society. As this is positively the last appearance of this great humorist and the admission is only 25 cents there ought to be a crowded house.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—This afternoon at three o'clock a meeting will be held at the Congregational church by the juvenile temperance society. All members of the society are particularly requested to be present as arrangements are to be made for a grand time on the Fourth of July. The new credit cards will be given to each member for attendance.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS.—Meetings will be held to-day by the members of this sect in Brady's Hall East Portland. Sabbath school at 10:30 A M to be followed by the sermon to be delivered by Elder A Marshall on "The Faith of Jesus." [illegible] Preaching also on Sunday evening at [illegible] "The World's great Prayer Meeting."

SENT TO THE ASYLUM.—Edward Harless who was brought to Portland from Clackamas county as insane, became so violent at the city jail that he had to be tied with ropes. He was examined by Drs Saylor and Jones and adjudged insane. Judge [illegible] committed him to the East Portland asylum.

RELEASED ON BAIL.—The case of Mrs Katie [illegible] who was arrested and brought [illegible] with her six months old babe [illegible] came up in court [illegible] matter under [illegible] Mrs [illegible] on bail.

MR. SMITH'S HEALTH.

PORTLAND, May 31 1882.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Since so much affected sympathy is being peddled on the health of Hon Joseph S Smith democratic candidate for governor please allow me to state that Dr John T Wells one of the ablest physicians of this or any country informed me about a month ago that he had made a thorough examination of Mr Smith and was clearly of opinion that Smith with his careful habits, stood as good a chance as any other man of his age to live twenty or thirty years longer. This I am informed by Mr Smith himself is also the opinion of many of the best physicians of the east.

I will add that Mr Smith's policy of having a quiet election is not the result of invention, out of that profound sagacity which recognizes the disgust of the people toward bossism and strikers and "bullies" at the polls and elsewhere in the conduct of elections.

CHAS F POWELL
Captain of Engineers

[illegible] contained in the above [illegible] following resolution was unanimously adopted:

The committee was [illegible] consists of W [illegible] H Dolliver [illegible] In a few days they will call upon business men for their subscriptions.

A STATEMENT CORRECTED.

From the Standard May 31
CORVALLIS May [illegible] 1882

[illegible] In your issue of May 23 there appeared an article signed "Democrat" purporting to have been written at Corvallis as it is dated there reflecting on and criticising the official conduct of Prof E B McElroy candidate for state superintendent. In order that my reply to this uncalled for and ungentlemanly attack may be fully understood I desire to state that I am now a candidate for county superintendent of schools on the democratic ticket of this county. I have been intimately associated with Prof McElroy in all features of school work in this county for the last eight years as teacher and citizen of the county. I deem it but my simple duty to correct the glaring misrepresentations apparent in almost every line in "Democrat's" communication.

And first the statement that Mr McElroy was the agent of Sower Potts & Co in the introduction of Brooks' arithmetics is emphatically and unqualifiedly false. The facts are Sower Potts & Co never had an agent in this state while active agents were in the field making a persistent and strenuous canvass for the Thompson, the Robinson and other series of arithmetics. Brooks' series were introduced through the senseless importunities and all its own [illegible] agent. Their introduction was wholly due to their eminent merit as text books far immeasurably above any other series in competition.

The second statement that I will notice is, "Democrat's" article is "they seem to be a collection of arithmetical puzzles." [illegible]

From the statement preceding the above quotation one might be led to think that our correspondent finally knew something about the subject in hand and that he is a competent critic of text books but here "they seem to be." Now I submit is not this a [illegible] decision from a [illegible] criticism. It is certainly [illegible] to have any weight with a single live teacher in the state who has used Brooks arithmetics for one term. Besides this it is [illegible] positively wrong to any one to [illegible] this [illegible] [illegible] about which he evidently knows little through the public press. If your correspondent has carefully and fairly examined Brooks arithmetics and has impartially compared them with the series formerly in use he might then with some show of reason assert that they seem to be a collection of puzzles.

All criticism of a text book is superficial and weak unless it comes from one who has professional skill in such matters and is thoroughly versed in the science itself and in the art and principles required in its practice. Now instead of [illegible] a collection of puzzles I will state that I believe Brooks series to be incomparably superior to those formerly in use and I make this statement after a careful examination of the entire series and after having used them in the school room (the only true test) for nearly two years. And while Thompson's series (a series below medium) remained in use some twelve or fifteen years in the schools of Oregon I venture the prediction that there will not be a new series published superior to or that can displace Brooks for the next 20 years. Very respectfully

E A MILNER

CONCERNING THE BRIBERY.

Mr G Bogman one of the jurors to whom the notes were to be given by the bailiff in charge makes the following statement. As several newspapers have mentioned my name as one of the jurors in the Bradley case to whom it is said, two attorneys for the defense attempted to make improper proposals it may not be ill timed to state that neither before nor during the trial nor while deliberating upon a verdict did I converse with or receive any communication offer or consideration from the defendant or any one or more of her attorneys or any one else. And I may say the same of the prosecution and add that I never had even an intimation from any one that I would be called as a juror until I was summoned while attending to my private business. In view of these facts which can be amply borne out I am decidedly at a loss to know why any one should have attempted to communicate with me if any such attempt was made or wherein arose the necessity for using my name as though I went on to the jury for improper purposes. I leave my actions and the part I took in the verdict as a juror to the unbiased consideration of all who heard the trial and testimony feeling confident that I shall be vindicated.

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 3, 1882.

JUSTICES' COURTS.

Their Enormous Cost to the Taxpayers of Multnomah County.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

There seems to be a common belief among citizens that there is something wrong in the official conduct of justices of the peace in the city of Portland, and at the same time a lack of definite information on the subject. I have ventured to partially investigate one of these courts—that of Morrison precinct, R. E. Bybee Justice of the peace—taken altogether not the worst, nor yet the best, but a fair sample of the lot, and here are some of the results.

An examination only with reference to the criminal business, and the sums paid by the county in such cases, fails to give a complete insight into the business in these courts. The people are equally interested in having an honest and economical administration of the laws in civil actions.

It is commonly alleged that justices of the peace in Portland habitually decide civil causes in favor of the plaintiff, without regard to the right or the law in the matter. During the year 1881 there were 352 civil actions commenced in said Justice Bybee's court. About 224 passed to judgment. About 80 were "settled" and the remainder (about 48) failed for want of service, etc. Of the 224 judgments entered in civil causes a large number were by default. But 53 cases were tried by the court without a jury. The court decided 52 of the 53 in favor of the plaintiff. The single exception was a case in which Chas. Pinto was plaintiff and St. Vincent's Hospital was defendant. In seven cases the defendant called for a jury, and six of these juries brought in verdicts for the defendant; one only found for the plaintiff. There is some significance in these proportions which seem to warrant the charge, in this instance at least.

The costs in these civil cases are scarcely ever less than $8 60 even for a default, ($6 15 to the justice and $2 45 to the constable), and are commonly $12 50, ($7 60 to the justice and $4 90 to the constable.) They often exceed what would be incurred in the same proceedings in the circuit court. There is practically no appeal from the fees as taxed by justices. I think a fair estimate of Justice Bybee's own income from civil cases alone during the year 1881 would be $1800. And from the county and defendants in criminal cases, $1300. His actual income from official business can only be estimated; the records generally fail to show what fees were paid in cases that are "settled" and "dismissed." The law gives justices of the peace the right to demand all their fees in advance. But this is seldom done. Instances are common enough where justices of the peace have an agreement with the persons bringing the actions conditioned that if they succeed in getting the best of the defendant, the fees are to be paid, otherwise not. There is active competition between these different courts in the city. Each has peculiar inducements to capture business. They all have a direct pecuniary interest at stake in every cause that comes before them, generally to decide it against the defendant. Often the plaintiff is irresponsible, while the defendant has something that an execution can reach. Or if judgment is rendered for the defendant, the party who brought the action may in the future carry his business to a more considerate court. For reasons like these they nearly always decide for the plaintiff. Jury trials are not usually so favorable to the defendant as in the above instance. In practice, much discretion in the selection of jurors is left in the constable, and Constable Sprague of Morrison precinct, is reputed among the best.

A great deal of business, both civil and criminal, is either "settled" or "dismissed." In a great many cases the costs exceed the sum in controversy. In one case in Justice Bybee's court the complaint was for 90 cents, while the costs were taxed at $8.40. These constitute the majority of the cases which are settled. The defendant perhaps having been through the mill before, like a singed cat, dreads the fire, and to get rid of the trouble pays liberally. When the record breaks off with this ominous word, "settled," this is about what can be inferred. In such cases usually the fees are not recorded.

Criminal actions are prosecuted in the name of the state. In such cases practically the county pays the witness, juror, justice, constable and district attorney fees.

There were 135 of these criminal actions commenced in Justice Bybee's court during the year 1881. Defendants sometimes have the case "dismissed" by paying the fees. Petty criminals sometimes appear before one of these courts, get some one to make complaint, plead guilty, are sentenced and pay a nominal fine, simply to escape future prosecution or arrest. They thus avail themselves of that provision of the constitution that "no person shall be put in jeopardy twice for the same offense."

There were 28 persons plead guilty before Justice Bybee in the year 1881 to criminal charges. The most of them were fined $5 and costs, the costs being taxed usually at $15. The defendant regularly pays the fine and the justice makes this entry: "Committment issued, defendant paid $5 fine which was applied on costs." The county the next month pays the balance of the costs. The fine within reasonable limits is commonly discretionary with the justice. Upon what honest theory they thus in effect fine the self-convicted criminals only $5 and the taxpayers the $15 costs, is not apparent. The common excuse is that "there is no imprisoning for non-payment of costs." But Sec. 109, [illegible], Code, p. 475 says: "Any money paid to the justice upon a judgment in a criminal action, must first be applied to the costs of the action, and the remainder by such justice, paid to the treasurer of the county, to be appropriated as provided by law."

The justice at any rate could always impose a fine sufficient to fully cover the costs. The real reason some such course is not taken, is because it would tend to drive custom to some other court. Justice Bybee's record for 1881, shows several instances where the defendant, after being sentenced to pay a fine and costs, was discharged upon payment of a portion of the fine only. This was a remission of fines which only the governor has authority to make. The total fines imposed in these courts and paid in the aggregate at least $5000 during the year 1881, and yet only $223 80 found its way into the treasurer's hands. All the rest was "applied on the costs" by the justices.

There are seven of these precincts in the city of Portland, and about 90 per cent of the expense comes from them, and mainly from four or five of them. Prominent are North Portland, Western and Morrison precincts.

During the year 1881 this county paid to justices of the peace, constables and district attorney for their fees for this work all (but $223 80) of the fines collected of defendants, estimated at	$ 5,000 00
And in cash, from taxes	11,330 95
To witnesses in criminal cases in justices' courts the county paid during 1881	5,393 70
To jurors in the same	530 40
And through the police court (when acting as a justices' court)	4,015 35
Total	$26,240 40

It cost Multnomah county about twice as much to transact the criminal business in justices' courts during 1881 as it did in the circuit court during the same year.

This is a rapidly growing evil and tax upon this county, as is shown by a comparison of the last three years.

The county paid justices of the peace, constables and district attorney fees (for criminal cases in justices courts) in addition to the fines, which the justices regularly apply in reduction of their costs:

During the year 1879	$ 2,338 95
During the year 1880	5,525 43
During the year 1881	11,330 95

The county paid to witnesses in such cases:

During the year 1879	$1,923 50
During the year 1880	2,764 50
During the year 1881	5,393 70

The county paid for jurors in such cases:

During the year 1879	$138 60
During the year 1880	321 00
During the year 1881	530 40

The county paid through the police court, exercising the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace:

To the chief of police (the same as a constable's fees and which he turns into the city treasury), during the year—

1879	$2201 25
1880	2822 75
1881	2885 35

To witnesses during—

1879	$ 548 00
1880	651 70
1881	1119 20

To jurors during—

1879	$15 60
1880	26 20
1881	10 10

It will be observed that the increase in justices' courts is very much greater than the relative increase in the police court, although the increase in witness fees in the police court is very marked between 1880 and 1881.

The total cash collected by taxes and paid out by the county to carry on the criminal business in justices' courts (and the police court when acting as one) during these three years was as follows:

1879	$ 7,161 60
1880	11,531 58
1881	21,290 40

What it will be at this rate in two or four years hence, every one can estimate for himself.

These figures must be understood as the money actually paid out by the county after absorbing all the fines imposed and collected by these courts. If the justices turned the fines into the county treasury and then let the county pay all their costs, the totals would be increased one-fifth.

But instead of doing so, they illegally disburse public funds by applying fines which properly belong to the school fund, to reducing their bills, the remainder of which they monthly present to the county. A justice of the peace thus at first sight reduces his bills, but not in fact.

Justice Bybee's bills presented directly to the county in the item of witness fees, are not as extravagant as the bills of Justices Petrain, Phelan or White, but indirectly and in civil cases he is as distinguished as any of them.

I have no favorite for any of these offices, but since one zealous candidate for these judicial honors has signified his intention to devote considerable sums to charity, if elected, (to heal his conscience I suppose) I would suggest that others intimate that they will be content to render their services as justice of the peace for a little less than the salaries paid our circuit and supreme court judges.

Several statutory amendments have been suggested, but these judicial bosses have heretofore been able to first elect or re-elect themselves, then defeat all amendments to the laws that would tend to take away their opportunities for plunder. Some of them have been observed to regularly attend the legislature to guard this "[illegible] bonanza." Perhaps if they had their offices taken away they would lose interest enough to let wholesome measures get through the legislature, but if re-elected I fear they will do as they have done heretofore.

The Oregonian's investigations printed under date Sept. 10, 1881, had a good but temporary effect. It would be more effective to defeat at least a few of the leaders next Monday, notably John Phelan in Western precinct, G. A. Petrain in North Portland, and R. E. Bybee [illegible]

FROM THE HUB.

There is perhaps no local [illegible] to the people that possesses as much real intrinsic value as the Hop Bitters. Just at this season of the year, when the stomach needs an appetizer, or the blood needs purifying, the cheapest and best remedy is Hop Bitters. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, don't wait until you are prostrated by a disease that may take months for you to recover in.—Boston Globe.
